

RUSU Affiliate Club Members Code of Conduct
Accepted by the SUC on 1/4/2014

1. Respect for All and Behaving Professionally

- Club Members are expected to act in the best interests of their respective Clubs and in the best interests of other members of their respective clubs.
- All club members must treat other club members in a respectful and dignified manner.
- All club members must respect the cultural diversity of other members of their club and respect the culturally diverse nature of other clubs.
- Clubs, and members of those clubs, may not in any way impede upon the learning or civil rights of other members of the RMIT community. This includes, but is not limited to, students, academics and administrative staff.
- All clubs members, and clubs as organisation entities, must avoid at all times any form of discrimination, bullying, racism or intimidation.
- Clubs, and members of clubs, shall adhere at all times to all relevant policies, procedures and guidelines of RMIT University. These policies, procedures and guidelines include, but are not limited to, the RMIT Code of Conduct and the RMIT Student Charter

2. Serious Misconduct

- Club members may not bring the reputation of their club, RMIT University or the RMIT University Student Union (RUSU) into disrepute.
- If a club would like to publicise anything in a classroom environment, they must have the express permission of the lecturer, or other teaching staff if applicable, before the commencement of the class.
- No club member, external or otherwise, may act in a way that breaches the RMIT Student Conduct regulations.
- Clubs shall not act maliciously toward any other affiliated club or defame their members through official club channels.
- No Club or club member may claim to represent or be endorsed by RUSU as a whole without the express written permission of the SUC. Further, club activities may not give the impression of being endorsed by the RUSU.
- Failure to comply to this Code of Conduct may result in disciplinary action by RUSU, which may include disaffiliation.

3. Utilisation of RUSU Resources

- Any club using RUSU property must return the property in the condition in which it was afforded to the club. Failure to return property in the condition in which it was afforded to the club will result in the cost of repairs or replacement being levied against the club through deductions from club bank account or through future club grants.
